Supported Environments Policy

eXo products offer a wide range of eligible environments to integrate with your IT preferences. The following chapter describes our factory-supported environments policy and the associated Support Services Terms.

General Statements

(i) eXo does not licence nor provide support or maintenance for the listed third party software, which includes without limitations : Installation, capacity planning, tuning, upgrade procedures. Customers will evaluate the opportunity to contract licences, support and maintenance guarantees with the third party editors involved.

(ii) eXo recommendations on interacting with the listed third party software are provided with the sole objective to run eXo Platform products in decent conditions and regardless of potential impacts or side effects on existing or future software managed by customers.

(iii) eXo does not guarantee to match recommendations emitted by third party software vendors or experts which includes without limitations, specific features, existing and future specifications, architecture design, protocols, management procedures.

(iv) eXo assumes customers' personnel is proficient with the selected third party software.

Fully Supported Environments

Recommended environments outline the best user and administrator experience achievable with eXo products. They also offer the widest set of guarantees, support services wise. Recommended environments specific features may also be leveraged by eXo products to enhance its own integration within these stacks.

Supported environments represent the baseline compatibility matrix requested to run eXo products in production conditions. Such environments may introduce particular limitations which are generally identified and listed by eXo. In addition, third party environments belonging to this category may be outdated and therefore should be updated to recommended software.

Support Services related terms :

eXo Global Support Services will deliver support and maintenance services for eXo Products to subscribed customers deploying eXo Products within the listed Fully Supported Environments according the contracted SLA.

In addition, Recommended environments are mandatory to benefit from Ongoing support assistance in case of Premium SLA.

Limited Support Environments

Compatible environments represent third party software known to work with eXo products, thanks to community contributions or lab research. Such environments may offer a varying compatibility with eXo products as they are not the subject of internal testing and quality insurance. Compatible environments are NOT recommended to run an eXo products' installation in a production context.

Deprecated environments are environments formerly fully supported by eXo products but are in the process of being removed from the supported environments list. Such removal is generally lined up with the next minor or major version of eXo products. Customer shall pay attention to third party software identified in this category and plan their update accordingly. Deprecated environments offer a limited user and administrator experience and are very likely to allow for a limited compatibility with features added in the latest minor or major version of eXo Products.

Support Services related terms :

eXo Global Support Services will deliver restricted support and maintenance services for eXo products to subscribed customers deploying eXo products within the listed Limited Support Environments according to the following guidelines :

- Contractual SLA is not guaranteed,
- Qualified product-specific issues will be handled as normal, which includes support assistance and maintenance for major defects.

- Qualified environment specific issues will automatically cancel the issue management and no additional delivery will occur for this issue (Patches, Maintenance versions)

Unsupported Environments

Incompatible or Sunset environments are third party software known to NOT work with eXo products, even if they used to work in conjunction with a former version of eXo products.

eXo Global Support Services will deliver NO support NOR maintenance services for eXo products to subscribed customers deploying eXo products within the listed Unsupported Environments.

Supported Environments Matrix

The following chapter provides a comprehensive listing of software and middleware subject to host or interact with each eXo Platform version's stream.

General Statements

The supported environment listing is meant to evolve over time to fit industry standards and allow for modern feature implementation. Those evolutions are ruled by the following terms :

- Supported environments can vary from a minor version to another, however eXo will NOT downgrade a given environment item during the lifecycle of a minor stream (see www.exoplatform.com/maintenance-program to learn more about version management and policies)
- eXo shall add or upgrade some environments into the list between two consecutive maintenance versions.

eXo Platform Enterprise and Enterprise Plus subscriptions fully benefit from the wide range of supported environments described below. Environment list per version :
